WAREHOUSES AND FACTORIES DESTROYED.

Part of the Harbor Front Swept—The Loss Will Be Extensive—Narrow Escape From an Explosion—The Fire Now Under Control.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 2.—The most disastrous fire that has visited Halifax for years is now raging. It broke out before one o'clock a.m., in Merlin's planing mill, on Taylor's wharf, near the Cunard wharves. In a few minutes the place was all ablaze, and the fire spread rapidly. A gentle breeze from the north carried showers of live sparks to the buildings, vessels and wharves south of the fire. The whole department was called out, and engines from Dartmouth came over to render assistance. Within an hour Merlin's mill, Wilson's blacksmith shop, John Taylor & Co's. big fish warehouse, filled with pickled fish, Brookfield Bro's lumber warehouse and yards, all on Taylor and Brookfield's wharves, were destroyed. By this time the fire had spread to the Liverpool wharf on the north and burned out Butler's spar yard; B. Swenerton, millers' agent; the Halifax broom factory; J B Neilly & Co., commission merchants; and Stratford Bros., oil dealers. Large quantities of petroleum were stored on this wharf, and there was great fear of an explosion. This was prevented by rolling the oil on the dock. The fire spread simultaneously to the south wharf, and soon the immense fish warehouses of John Taylor & Co., were a prey to the flames. The firemen are now directing their efforts to prevent the spread of the flames to the big fish warehouse of Daniel Cronin, on the south, and to T. A. S. DeWolf & Sons, agents of the Anchor Line, on the north. A score of schooners lying at the burning wharves quickly moved out into the harbor. By two o'clock this morning the whole block from Cronin's on the south to the north of Hamilton's wharf on the north, almost adjoining the Cunard wharves, had been destroyed. The city is crowded with visitors attending the exhibition, and 10,000 spectators line the wharves in the vicinity of the conflagration. The oil is mostly importations of the Standard Oil Co. and the Eastern Oil Co. The military has been called out, and the Admiral has ordered out all man-of-war sailors, with their hand engines and reels. The Royal Engineers are blowing up buildings to prevent the spread of the fire. So far no loss of life is reported.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—A profound sensation has been created by a dispatch from Reichsenberg, Bohemia, which, while announcing the safe arrival at that place of the Emperor Francis Joseph, also brings the startling news that during last night an attempt was made to blow up a bridge at Rosenthal, a suburb of Reichsenberg, by means of a bomb. Fortunately the plot was discovered and frustrated. It is supposed the bomb was placed where it was in the hope of killing the Emperor, whose train crossed the bridge in question. No arrests are reported and the capital is anxiously awaiting additional particulars.

Eight Miners Killed.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Bridge End, Glamorgan county, Wales, reports the killing of eight miners by the over-winding of the pit gear at Abergunfi Colliery, near that place.

Madame Boulanger's Grief.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Madame Boulanger, widow of General Boulanger, residing at Versailles, on being informed of the tragic death of her husband at Brussels yesterday, fainted, and since then she has been in a state of the deepest dejection, and apparently overcome with grief. Boulanger will be buried on Saturday afternoon.

DEACON WHITE.

Stephen Van Cullen White, whose failure has created so great a sensation, has been a pillar in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, N.Y., for a number of years. He was born August 1, 1831, in Chatham county, N. C., his father being a descendant of a Pennsylvania Quaker family, which migrated south after the Revolution, and his mother a member of one of the oldest families of his native state. His father was a bitter opponent of slavery and was compelled to leave the state during the Nat Turner uprising in 1831, six months after young Stephen was born. The elder brother paid for his tuition in Knox College in 1854. After graduating from college he became a bookkeeper in St. Louis. He was admitted to the bar subsequently, and began practice in Des Moines, Iowa. He was successful, but in 1855 came to New York and joined a Wall street firm, which was afterwards known as Marrin & White, and in 1882 as S. V. White & Co. Mr. White made his greatest reputation upon the street in connection with Deleware, Lackawanna & Western stock in March, 1884. He cleared at least $1,000,000 by the operation. He was a great friend of the late Henry Ward Beecher. Mr. White's downfall is owing to his being a "bull" on corn. He carried 15,000,000 bushels and the price had fallen from 70 to 32, making his losses some $2,000,000.

The Liberal Convention.

NEWCASTLE, Oct. 2.—Long before the doors of the hall in which the great National Liberal Federation congress is holding its sessions were thrown open to-day, large crowds assembled without the building, clamoring for admittance. When Dr. Spence Watson, president of the National Federation, rapped for order, he found himself surrounded, as yesterday, by the foremost Liberals of England, Scotland and Wales, who occupied seats on the platform, while, confronting him in the main body of the hall, sat and stood an audience which occupied every available foot of space. When the preliminaries of the opening day's session were gone through, Sir G. O. Trevelyan, M.P., offered a resolution condemning the system of registration as excluding many voters, also favoring shorter sessions of Parliament and providing that all elections shall take place the same day and recommending the principle of paying members of the House of Commons for their services as representatives of the people. The resolution laid particular stress on the fact that only through the adoption of this principle could an adequate representation in Parliament of the labor interest be secured. Sir George spoke at some length in support of this resolution, taking occasion to express the opinion that in no case should the compensation of a member of the House of Commons exceed £300 per annum. The resolution was seconded by Samuel Storey, M.P., of Sunderland, and unanimously adopted. Sir Wilfred Lawson, member of Parliament for Cockermouth, Cumberland, and president of the United Kingdom alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic, moved a re-affirmation of the Council's declarations in favor of amending or ending the House of Lords, favoring local option, reform of the land laws, repeal of the laws of primogeniture and entail, enfranchisement of lease-holders and disestablishment and disendowment of the Church of Scotland. Sir Wilfred in supporting his motion said the period for mending the House of Lords had passed away, and therefore he advised its abolition.

Leland Stanford University.

MENLO PARK, Cala., Oct. 1.—The Leland Stanford, Jr., University at Palo Alto was opened this morning with impressive ceremonies. Mr. Stanford, founder of the institution, delivered a brief address, in which he referred to his confidence in the trustees and to the general purposes of the university. Judge J. McM. Shafter followed in a speech on behalf of the board of trustees. President Kellogg of the University of California, spoke in a pleasant way of the new rival of his own university, and President Jordan, of the Stanford institution, concluded the speaking with a long and polished address.

Sir Hector Leaves Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Sir Hector Langevin left the city to-day, and will in future reside in Quebec. None of the Ministers saw him off. The two members for the city and one or two local Government contractors were all who went to the station to bid him good-bye.

Empress of India Starts.

THE FAIR DOING WELL

A GREAT CROWD OF VISITORS YESTERDAY.

Many Present To-Day—Success of the Exhibition Assured—The Fireworks To-Night—More Names of Those Who Won Prizes.

Fully 5000 persons visited the fair grounds yesterday, the gate receipts exceeding the sum of $1650. This at 50 cents per ticket would represent 3300 while the first mentioned number could easily be made up if season tickets and invitation cards are counted. Under these circumstances alone the great Victoria fair of 1891 is a pronounced success in public estimation. Of course there is a certain amount of grumbling in certain quarters; it is not often otherwise. In some cases there is perhaps cause for it, but it is the prerogative of the public to grumble. In this instance the officials promise to do all in their power to meet the complaints. The races and other sports yesterday formed a considerable attraction, but the exhibition was the prime factor in this respect, and made a grand object lesson. The magnificent display of Falconer's Vinegar Works on the ground floor has been purchased by G. E. Hawes, of the Toronto grocery. Then the exhibit of Mr. T. W. Fletcher must not be forgotten. He puts up two of the celebrated Shoninger Co.'s pianos "for competition against any pianos in the fair for brilliancy of tone, touch and general excellence," and is confident of the result. He also shows several of the Domestic sewing machines, in cases and in stands. Munro Miller's bindery, in course of operation, also attracts considerable interest, showing as it does the delapidated condition in which people often send books and periodicals to the bindery, and the contrast thereto when they get the goods back. Spratt & Gray have a nice exhibit of foundry articles, among which is a small perpendicular engine.

To-day the attractions outside the fair were the Jockey Club races and the exhibition of the Victoria Athletic Club, the members of which, during the morning entertained a large concourse of spectators.

To-night there will be a grand fireworks display from the centre of the Driving Park. Professor Hand has the work in charge, and if his name is not sufficient guarantee for a grand display, the remembrance of what he did on the occasion of the Queen's birthday celebrations will suffice. There is every promise of the greatest crush of the fair this evening on this account alone. Mr. Pferdner's band deserves no small commendation for its efforts during the fair.

FALCONER'S VICTORIA VINEGAR WORKS display a full line of their manufacture, namely—Pure malt vinegar, tomato catsup, worcester sauce, fruit syrups, raspberry vinegar, flavoring extracts and mixed pickles. This is a new industry and has made a very creditable display, a home enterprise which people ought to patronize. Mr. Falconer is offering a prize of a pound bottle of lemon extract to the young lady under 18 years of age who can make the best lemon pie; entries to be received up till to-morrow afternoon.

AS VIEWED BY A VISITOR

REV. R. N. GRANT'S IMPRESSIONS OF VICTORIA.

Things That Strike an Eastern Man as Strange—A City of Large Business—Causes of Prosperity—Praise for Nanaimo and Westminster.

Rev. R. N. Grant ("Knoxonian"), who was in Victoria for a few weeks lately, writes as follows in the Canada Presbyterian:—

Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, resembles Halifax more than it resembles any other city in the Dominion. Halifax is a seaport, so is Victoria; Halifax is a naval station, so is Victoria; Halifax has accumulated capital, so has Victoria; Halifax is intensely British, so is Victoria; Halifax, or a part of it at least, has no particular love for confederation, and it must be confessed that there are some excellent people in Victoria who have no special desire to fight or die for connection with the "Back East."

An Ontario man is not long in Victoria until he realizes that he has struck a city very unlike any other he sees at home. In the first ten minutes you are pretty sure to see a dozen Chinamen, and of course that is something new. In the next ten you may meet half-a-dozen "middies" from one of the men-of-war in port, and that too is a new sight. You hire a conveyance of some kind, and before you are in it five minutes you discover that whether it is one horse or two horse it is unlike anything you ever rode in at home. You go into a store and buy something and your bill perhaps gently reminds you that you are on the coast. Your barber is a first-class artist, but he has a soul and a scale of prices that despise "Back Ess" figures. Drop into one of the courts and the first thing you notice is that the judges and lawyers wear white wigs. Listen to the business men talk and you soon learn that hundred dollar bills are shoved around as freely as tens in an Ontario city. Go out into the residential parts of the city and you notice that nearly all the houses are built of wood, that nearly all are painted a yellowish brown colour to withstand the effects of the rainy season, and that nearly all are more or less ornamental in style of architecture. Listen to any two persons conversing, and just as likely as not they are discussing the catch of salmon on the Fraser, or the strike in the coal mines at Nanaimo, or the forced return of the sealing vessels, or the arrival of one of the "Empresses"—topics that you would not hear touched in Ontario in a century. Almost everything is different from what you see in any Ontario city or town and this difference makes Victoria intensely interesting to an Ontario man. He is never wearied looking at "the same old thing over again." The climate is different, the business in many lines is new to him, the "old-timers"—mainly Scotchmen and Englishmen who came out from the old country in the Hudson Bay and Crown Colony days—are in many respects unlike any class at present in Ontario. These and many other considerations make Victoria an exceedingly interesting city to visit. The interest is increased by the great business activity prevailing at the present time. Splendid business blocks are being built on the principal business streets, and in the residential parts of the city new buildings meet you almost everywhere. I am not sufficiently familiar with the features of a boom to know one when I see it, but it struck me there was a slight suggestion of a boom in Victoria. I asked several leading citizens, and they assured me that it was "the natural growth of the place." Let it go at that. They should know better than a visitor about the growth of their own city.

I have often heard that the people of Victoria are a little cold and exclusive in their treatment of strangers. Exactly the reverse was my experience. Being an intensely British people, shut off from the rest of the Dominion by Principal Grant's "sea of mountains," some of them may seem a trifle "offish" at first sight, but on further acquaintance the apparent "offishness" soon wears away, and the visitor finds as genial, kindly, large-hearted people in the British Columbia capital as can be found in any part of the Dominion. That some of the Victoria people have no special love for confederation is, I believe, a fact—an unfortunate fact it may be—but a fact all the same. They are not alone, however, in their lack of love for the confederation compact. There are excellent people in Halifax, St John, Fredericton and other eastern places who are not fired with ambition to fight or die for confederation. No doubt habit has much to do with our forms of speech, but it is something more than habit that makes some Halifax and Victoria people say to an Ontario man: "You have come from Canada." These good people have never yet realized that they live in Canada and are themselves Canadians.

The present business activity of Victoria, I was told, dates from the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Pacific end of the road was built from the west, and Victoria was the principal base of supplies. Since that time the city has grown rapidly, and there are no signs of abatement visible to the eye of the casual observer. The prosperity puzzles an Ontario man. Brought up in an agricultural country, we Ontario people are likely to think that a city or town cannot amount to anything unless it is buttressed by rich agricultural lands. Here is a busy, progressive, wealthy city with scarcely enough agricultural land around it under cultivation to raise enough chicken feed for the local market. Ask a Victoria man what are the factors that produce the prosperity, and he at once tells you that they are the timber and the lumber trade, the coal, the fisheries, the presence of the war ships, the seal industry and the mines. If the Ontario man has any sense he says very little on the subject, because he knows that with the exception of the lumber and timber business these are factors with which he is not familiar. If the Ontario man is gifted in the art of discussing things he does not understand, and some Ontario men are highly gifted in that way, he may not go very far until he reveals the fact that he really does not know the color of a snakskin when it comes out of the water. About the only thing an Ontario man can feel absolutely certain of, looking at the business of Victoria, is that there may be great business prosperity without agriculture.

NANAIMO.

Seventy miles north of Victoria, on the east side of the island of Vancouver, and close down to the water's edge, stands the city of Nanaimo. The streets are laid out in a rather irregular kind of way. Whether the irregularity was caused by the nature of the ground on which the city is built, the site being a hillside, or by the eccentricity of the people who founded the city I cannot say, but certainly the place is unique in its plan, or perhaps I should say, want of plan. The irregularity of the streets, however, does not interfere with business. Nanaimo is the coal city of the coast, and so excellent is the fuel found there that it overrides all fiscal laws and more than holds its own in the markets of San Francisco and other cities. The supply seems practically unlimited, the amount of money that changes hands seems fabulous to economical eastern people, and one cannot resist the conclusion that some day Nanaimo may be the greatest money-producing spot on the coast. The human family cannot do without fuel any more than without food. Let any man look at the coal fields of Nanaimo and then at the wheat fields around Brandon and say if the Almighty has not given us one of the richest countries on earth. If Canadians cannot develop our resources and govern this splendid land honestly, they deserve to be scourged. A nobler heritage was never given to any people. Canaan was nothing compared with Canada.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

Sixteen miles from the mouth of the Fraser River and on its northern bank stands the beautiful city of New Westminster. Viewed from the deck of a steamboat in the turn of the river, at which the first sight of the city is obtained, New Westminster looks more beautiful perhaps than any other place on the coast. The bank on which the city is built rises rather sharply from the water's edge, and the whole city is seen at a glance. The two principal business streets run parallel with the river, and are on level ground, but the moment you leave them you have to climb. If you want to know the exact condition of your breathing apparatus and the extent of your locomotive power, just turn northward off the main street and make a few calls in the residential part. To overcome the difficulty of walking so much up and down hill the authorities are running an electric railway around to the back part of the city, and then the climbing will cease. New Westminster has an air of prosperous solidity and taste about it that strikes a stranger very forcibly. Walking about the streets at every turn you catch yourself saying: "Now this is a highly respectable kind of place." To use an expression often heard on the coast, it is an "awfully decent" sort of city. Just what it is that gives the city such an air of pronounced respectability it might be hard to say, but it strikes a visitor that way.

Westminster and Vancouver City, 12 miles apart, are by this time united by an electric railway. I hoped to have a ride over the road, but it was not ready for opening when I left, and I had to be satisfied with a look at one of the beautiful cars as it stood on the main street. Speaking of electric cars, reminds me that the coast cities are far and away ahead of eastern cities in this matter. A street car in Vancouver City or Victoria can easily run an eighth of a mile while an old horse on one of our Ontario street railways is getting himself pulled together for a start. New Westminster, like the other cities of the coast, seems to be growing rapidly, and with the lumber and fish industries at its door can hardly fail to hold its own in any emergency.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was quite unable to attend to my work, and in fact could not move about without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Great Gathering at Newcastle—Russia and China.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Liberal leaders are gathering at Newcastle to-day from all parts of the kingdom. It is generally conceded that to-day's meeting is the most important assembly of Liberals previous to the general election, and that the programme to be agreed upon will greatly influence the result of the election. Conferences have been held during the week preparatory to the great meeting, and matters disposed of in advance about which it would not do to have any dissension. The indications are that the Radical element will be satisfied, for the present at least with the advocacy of salaries for members of Parliament and other measures to be proposed and supported in the interests of the working classes, and that there will be an united front in the coming political contest. Mr. Gladstone has insisted that there shall be no weakening in the support of Irish Home Rule, and to his personal influence more than any other cause is due the fact that Home Rule will be kept as the watch word of the Liberal party. To his personal influence is also due that there is not a general splitting off of the Radicals, who are anxious to attack the foundation of class privilege, to abolish the House of Lords and the entailment of estates, and effect the disestablishment of the English Church. It is recognized that the working classes are Radical, and are growing more and more Radical, and it is feared that the disappearance of Mr. Gladstone from the scene will be followed by a division of the Liberal party.

BOULANGER'S TAKING-OFF.

The suicide of Boulanger is distinctly recognized in Paris as a victory for the Republicans, an acknowledgment of failure by the man who led the struggle for the republic's overthrow. A Berlin dispatch says that while nothing is said that commits high officials to an expression on the subject, the news of the suicide was evidently not gratifying in government circles, it being looked upon as the disappearance of a man who had not yet exhausted his ability to injure France. In St. Petersburg, on the other hand, the news was regarded as that of a French victory. It is believed it will put an end to the Boulangists as a separate and dangerous faction, for the reason that they have no one now to look to as leader.

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

The refusal of Russia to take a hand in Cochin China is attributed to the dread which Russia has regarded China's capacity for injuring Russian interests in the interior of Asia. Russia has always feared a sudden and overwhelming movement of the Chinese that would sweep back the Russian domains perhaps to the Ural Mountains. This fear seems to be traditional, and it is as strong to-day as when Russia was a Tartar province. The Chinese have a very large force stationed near the Manchurian boundary and could throw an army into Siberia far superior to any force that Russia could place in that neighborhood.

ON THE BANKS OF THE PRUTH.

A Vienna dispatch, speaking of the Russian manœuvres at the Pruth, calls attention to the fact that the Crimean war began with the crossing of the Pruth by the Russians, and says that everything points to a similar beginning for the next great European conflict. Five squadrons of Roumanian cavalry have reached the Roumanian boundary opposite to where the Russians are manœuvreing, and there have been midnight demonstrations by Russians since the cavalry arrived. The latter came by forced marches from Bucharest, and will remain on the frontier, with a division of infantry now on the way as a corps of observation. It is said the arrival of the Roumanian troops seemed to take the Russians by surprise, as if their plans had been discovered and checkmated.

CARLOS CALLS ON HIS UNCLE.

A letter from Venice says that Don Carlos, the pretender to the throne of Spain, is in very straightened circumstances, and recently pawned valuable jewels.

Rioters Shot Down.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Since the killing of overseer Tom Miller on J. F. Frank's plantation and the burning of Orril & Bond's gin house on Saturday, a posse of citizens has been after the rioting cotton pickers in Lee county. On Sunday one was killed and several wounded. The rest found refuge in a large canebrake, which was surrounded. The lines are patrolled by the white citizens. The cane is very tall and dense, and affords good shelter. On Tuesday a party of negroes attempted to escape. Three of them were shot, and one named Peison was killed instantly. Bob Patterson, leader of the band, was mortally wounded, and another received a flesh wound. Five were captured. The excited captors wanted to lynch them, but cooler counsel prevailed, and they were marched under heavy guard to Lee county jail, at Marinetta. Yesterday afternoon Captain Busch, of Marinetta, arrived at the scene with bloodhounds. They were put on the track of the fugitives in the cane brake, and it is thought they will soon be captured. Escape is impossible as the cane brake is surrounded with men, and if the negroes resist they will be killed. Tom Miller's body was found by one of the posse where his murderers had left it. His body was riddled with buckshot. The country is unsettled, and cotton picking is at a standstill. Many negroes have fled, and the loss will be serious.

Her Face Her Fortune.

Is commonly said of famous beauties. She who uses with artistic taste Wisdom's Famous Roberine has fortune in the possessing of a complexion to which nothing but the blush of the rose or the freshness of the lily can be compared. This preparation is just what it is claimed to be—the most delightful toilet article and only perfect beautifier known. VALUABLE LANDS AT
Langford Plains and Neighborhood

I have been instructed to sell by auction at my salesrooms, Fort and Langley streets,

Section 99—Containing 114 acres, more or less. This section forms part of the celebrated Langford Plains property, well known as a favorite spot for public picnics. A large part of this section is open and dry land, as level as a billard table; the scenery is very pretty, the grounds having scattering oak trees through it, fringed with a comparatively light growth of fir and other trees in the background. This section partially fronts on the south side of a beautiful sheet of water known as Florence Lake. The Goldstream wagon road runs through the southern portion of this lot, and the E. & N. railway runs within 25 chains of the southern boundary, thus giving easy and cheap access to it.

Section 113—Containing 143 acres, more or less, adjoining and north of Section 99. This section takes in nearly the whole of Florence Lake. There is a large quantity of good limestone on a knoll at the northern boundary of this section.

These two properties are certainly the making of the finest recreation grounds in the neighborhood of Victoria City. The land in Section 99, in its native state, has no equal for a race track, cricket, baseball grounds and other sports; and the beautiful surrounding scenery is unsurpassed; the advantages of Florence Lake for boating and camping are splendid, and hunters are in the heart of a fine game country. These two sections will be sold together.

Sections 116 and 85—Containing 141 acres, more or less. The Goldstream wagon road runs through the lots. These lots have a frontage on Langford Lake, and will be divided into four lots of about 35 acres each, and each lot will have a frontage on the lake. This property commences at the east end of the lake.

Lot 68—Containing 100 acres.

Both these lots are at the junction of the Sooke and Metchosin roads.

Terms of Sale—Half cash, balance in twelve months at seven per cent.

THE WASHINGTON NEGOTIATIONS.

So there is another postponement of those unfortunate reciprocity negotiations. They were fixed for the 12th inst., and now comes word from Ottawa that owing to Secretary Blaine's ill-health a request for a postponement has come from Washington, to which the Ottawa Government has of course consented. We are further told that the Dominion Cabinet requested that the negotiations be not put off beyond the end of the year, as Parliament is expected to assemble early. It may be remarked by the way that the latter statement is somewhat suggestive. An early and short session, the passage of a gerrymander act and a further attempt to make it appear that they are in earnest over the purification process, is very likely the programme of the Ministers. They will then be ready to bring on an election if the prospects are encouraging. Where reciprocity is concerned, the Abbott Cabinet can have little hope of making party gain, for it inherits the insincerity of its predecessor in regard to the matter. The sinuosities of Sir John and Sir Charles have rendered it extremely improbable that any negotiations undertaken by the Tory Government at Washington will be successful. It is suggestive that Tupper is not to be one of the negotiators, Ministers Thompson and Foster being entrusted with the task of representing the Dominion Government. Tupper's misrepresentation of Blaine's position in the preliminary negotiations was not pleasing to the Secretary of State, and it would not increase their chances of success if Ministers took him as a colleague. It does not appear, however, that his going or his staying away will make much difference; the proposals which the Ottawa Government is likely to make are not likely to be entertained by either the Washington Administration or the Senate. Reciprocity will not come until the Liberals are in power.

COLONISTIC DISHONESTY,

The Colonist's remarks on Premier Abbott's purification bill are more than usually absurd. It actually takes credit to itself for the insertion of a clause in the bill to prevent Government contractors from contributing to election funds. The Colonist, it seems, recommended the clause, and the clause was accordingly inserted. "We hardly expected at the time that the Government would go as far as we recommended," says the owlish organ. No, indeed? But that is not the worst. The Colonist maunders on:

But we see that the Government has lost no time in making this reform, and, as far as we know, the Colonist is the only newspaper in the Dominion which suggested that a clause of that nature should be added to Mr. Abbott's bill. The Liberal journals which we have seen have all been silent on the subject. It is just possible that the party which desires to be considered par excellence, the party of purity, did not think it necessary to make so great a sacrifice in the cause of pure administration as the addition of such a provision to the bill would effect. The contributions of contractors and other interested parties, were calculated upon as sure, and they were very convenient when voluntary contributions were small and came in very slowly. For the Government, without solicitation or the application of pressure of any kind, to make these generous and certain contributions impossible, no doubt, appeared to a large class of practical Liberal politicians an altogether unnecessary piece of self-denial. That Mr. Abbott's Government freely made the sacrifice is an indication of their determination to make the reforms that are required, which cannot be mistaken.

Surely our contemporary does not expect its readers to swallow such rubbish. It cannot have been ignorant of the fact that the Liberal press and Liberal members of Parliament have for years protested against public contractors being allowed to furnish campaign funds and "testimonials" for any party. Resolutions condemning the practice were offered in the late Parliament on more than one occasion, but they were promptly voted down by the Tory majority. As to the Liberal press, we have pleasure in mentioning for the Colonist's benefit a specific instance. When the Premier introduced his bill the Globe in an article made the following comments:—

"Mr. Abbott is aware that the most serious danger to the public interest arises from the practice of ministers in accepting campaign subscriptions from Government contractors. * * * This baneful system costs the country more and does far more to taint politics than the pickings and stealings of subordinate officers. The history of the Larkin-Connolly contracts proves that to a superfluity. It is a very common crime. The Chapleauist writer of the La Presse pamphlet, who first unfrocked Sir Hector, declares that not a single contract let by the Public Works Department in recent years has been executed according to the original conditions—that every one has been departed from in order to allow the contractor to recoup himself for his contributions to the Reptile Fund. Efforts have been made by the Liberals to forbid contractors from subscribing and Ministers or their agents from receiving; but thus far without success. The evil is a giant one. In England and the United States it has, we believe, been made punishable by law; and in this country, where Government exercises the functions of a universal providence and builds or subsidizes for everybody whose vote and influence is worth securing, it is still more desirable that Ministers should be prohibited from placing themselves and their party under such a fatal bond to contractors. Moreover it should be made a penal offence for a member of Parliament to compound such doings."

The Colonist has been guilty of a deliberate attempt to misrepresent the attitude of the Liberal party in regard to this question, an attempt that does not harmonise well with the sermons on journalistic ethics which it inflicts on the public in the same issue.

SPREADING SEEDS.

The methods by which seeds are distributed are most curious and interesting, says Knowledge. The legume of the pea splits along its two margins, the two halves falling away from each other and throwing off the seeds in various directions. The seed cases of the pansy and the violet explode, scattering the seeds forcibly.

In the gorse and the broom a sudden burst of the pods and a spring-like twist of their two halves effectually disperse the contents. On sunny July days the cracking sounds produced by the bursting pericarps may be distinctly heard. The mature fruit of Ecballium elaterium separates from its stock and ejects its seeds with great rapidity through the orifice left by the rupture. The sporangia of many ferns (bracken) have an elastic ring, which is probably intended for the energetic dispersal of the spores. In certain pines the scales of the cone, when thoroughly dried by the hot days of the summer following that of its production, open with a jerk, forcibly ejecting the winged seeds. Frequently a number will burst together, and then the sound may be heard at a great distance.

In the expulsion of the seeds of the balsam (impatiens) the contact of some outside object is of advantage. The seed case consists of one cell with five valves, and, if touched by accident when ripe, it at once bursts open, the valves coiling themselves violently, and springing from the stalk, scatter the seeds in all directions. In the poppy and snapdragon a still larger share of the work of releasing the seeds falls to an outer agency, for here the pericarp consists of a capsule which opens along the top by valves that leave small pores through which the seeds fall out when the capsules are shaken by the wind. In all of these various methods of the expulsion of seeds it would seem that they are due to mechanical causes, and depend in most instances (impatiens excepted) upon a certain condition of dryness in themselves, and upon the state of the surrounding atmosphere.

Passing from the modes in which dry fruits, consisting of a number of seeds enveloped in tough pericarps, effect dissemination, we have to consider next the means which obtain among dry fruits whose seeds are not collectively inclosed in a strong seed case. Here, too, we find the forcible ejection of seeds. Those of the oat are scattered with such energy that on a fine, dry day the snapping thus caused is distinctly audible.

But the most curious provision possessed by seeds of this class for self-dissemination is the hygroscopic awn. In the wild oat (aveua fatua), for example, there are attached to the glumella (a small, leafy structure connected with the seed), a spiral awn covered with humorous fine hairs, and this awn has the power of expanding when moist and of contracting when dry.

Thus the attached seed is constantly on the move with the changes in the weather, the hairs clinging to any object met with, until germination or destruction puts an end to its motion.

The seed of barley, too, is provided with a similar awn, which is furnished with minute teeth that point toward its apex. The seed, when lying on the ground, naturally expands with the moisture of the night and contracts with the dryness of the day, but, as the teeth prevent its moving toward the point of the awn, all motion must be in the direction of the base of the seed, which will thus travel many feet from the parent stalk.

TEARS OF A DEER.

In most species of deer, a hollow which is known to scientists as the lachrymal sinus, or tear-pit, is found. It is a cavity beneath each eye, capable of being opened at pleasure, in which a waxy substance of a peculiar, disagreeable odor is secreted. This pit is sometimes very small, but often of considerable size. Poets speak of the deer weeping, but it has not been shown this is not by poetic license solely. In the case of the wounded stag, which the contemplative Jaques watched and moralized upon, it is said:

"The big round tears
Coursed one another down his innocent nose
In piteous chase."

But this is Shakespeare's poetical interpretation of the appearance presented by the motion of the glistening edges of the folds of skin which enclose the so-called "tear-pits." These cavities are very marked in species of deer found in Asia and the islands of the Indian ocean and in the common deer or America and Europe. In some varieties in South America and Northern ... they are less developed.

Steel Rails in City Streets.

In some of the cities of Europe the plan has been tried of laying steel rails along the streets for the wheels of heavy trucks and hauling wagons. The model rail is broad and flat, being a foot wide and three-fourths of an inch thick. Shallow grooves run along its length. These rails save the terrible wear of street paving that is caused by heavy-laden wagons. They are a great relief to horses. By them a team which draws only eight tons is enabled to convey thirty-two tons. The rails are flat with the street, and can be easily crossed.

Increase to be Looked For.

From the fact that a car-load of baby carriages has just been received from eastern factories here, it would be safe to assume that the next official census of Victoria will be considerably increased.

Had to Pay Two Dollars.

Kate Castleton's dog "Jo-Jo," a favorite canine of that favorite actress, was gathered in by the official dog-catcher of Seattle yesterday, and Kate had to pay two big dollars to release her pet, as the city by-law, like Victoria's, calls for the payment of the tax.

Willamette Rowing Club Regatta.

On October 2 and 3 Northern Pacific R.R. Co. will sell round trip tickets, Victoria to Portland, Ogn., and return, at rate of $11.75, including one admission to the Portland Industrial Exposition. Tickets good to return until Oct. 6.

Kept the Course Clear.

The squad of city police, under the charge of Sergt. Levin, who were detailed to keep the tournament track clear on Yates street, did their work well. One noticeable feature was the lack of friction between the police and the crowd. The latter needed very little controlling.

Police Court Notes.

J. Brown, the sneak coat thief, was sent up for two months. The watch stealing case was remanded until to-morrow. An infraction the park by-law, and an infraction of the street by-law, were punished by a fine of $5 in each case. Three drunks contributed the regulation $5 and the court rose.

Another Factory.

Messrs. Thorpe and company of Vancouver, manufacturers of soda water, syrups, etc., have opened a branch of their establishment in this city. Besides all kinds of mineral waters the company intend to bottle the water from Harrison Hot Springs. Mr. F. H. Price, formerly of Duncan's Station, a member of the firm, has taken charge of the Victoria branch.

To Take Back the Plant.

General Lyman E. Banks, who for some months past has been conducting coal boring operations at Quatsino Sound, was in the city yesterday making arrangements for a steamer to go up and get the plant consisting of drills, engine, etc. The General is confident he can get coal in that district, and intends to try again at a later date.

A Capitalist.

Last night an Indian was brought to the police station, suffering from too much imbibing of firewater. When searched he was found to have the tidy sum of $663.85 cents in his inside pocket. When ordered to pay a fine of $5 this morning he did it with a lordly air, which seemed to indicate that a matter of $5 was a mere bagatelle for a capitalist like himself.

Pearce Heard From.

One of the employees of the steamer City of Kingston states that William Pearce, the man who was arrested at Port Townsend for robbing the Vancouver Hotel, and who escaped on the way over, went ashore from the boat at Seattle two days after he was missed on the boat. He must have been well secreted if the story is true, for a thorough search was made for him at the time. Pearce is a pretty slick fellow, and there is a chance it was he, but the police here think there was a mistake.

Police Returns.

The following are the returns taken from the city police calendar for the month of September: Assault 7, assault on police 2, abduction 1, beating passage (steamboat) 1, burglary 1, carrying concealed weapons 1, drunks 81, frequenter of house of ill-fame 1, gambling, five Chinese, 29 whites, 34; highway robbery 3, larceny 8, lodgings 3, possession of intoxicants 8, rescuing prisoner 1, supplying intoxicants to Indians 5, unsound mind 3, vagrancy 8. The total amount collected as fines was $1450, which will go a good way toward paying expenses.

Anchors for Esquimalt.

In the cargo of the C.P.R. steamer Manitoba at Owen Sound on Sept. 17th, were two mooring anchors for the Esquimalt, B.C., anchorage, consigned from Portsmouth, Eng. They in all probability, says the Owen Sound Times, belonged to one of the old time men-of-war and weigh nearly five tons each. They were made at Woolwich in 1844, and were converted into mooring anchors by beating down one of the flanges along the stock, at Portsmouth in 1889. The dates and weights are stamped on each. It took nearly the entire gang at the freight sheds to move them.

Got His Pin Back.

Two of the Seattle visitors to the tournament occupied one room at a hotel, and yesterday morning one of them, Mr. R. A. Schoenfeld, found a valuable diamond pin missing from his tie. Shortly after it was taken into Aaronson's pawn shop, and offered for $2.50. Its value was about $175. Mr. Aaronson knew that the article must have been stolen, and he took a description of the man and then took the pin, reporting the matter to the police at once. The owner had his pin returned in less than two hours after it was reported lost, but would not have the thief arrested, as it turned out to be his friend who occupied the same room. It is said in excuse for the man that he was drunk when he took the pin. Pawnbroker Aaronson deserves credit for his action.

The Pisagua Released.

The Chilian ship Pisagua, the arrest of which was announced in last evening's TIMES, is free once again. The men's wages $220 are payable in Chilian money, and that is where the captain got mixed up. Firemen's Farewell.

Most of the Astoria and Albany firemen left by last night's boat for the Sound, and quite a gathering of Victoria boys were down on the wharf to see them off. Cheers for the heads of the departments and the different hose teams were given with a will. Chief Deasy was called upon for a speech, and in a few well chosen words he expressed his pleasure at the result of the tournament, and trusted that the boys would return again soon. Cheers for Victoria city and the Queen were given by the visitors, and for the American Republic by the Victoria boys, the boat steaming away from the wharf with the best wishes of all in her wake.

Boilers for Moodyville.

Mr. S. J. Randall, master mechanic of the Moodyville sawmills, was in town yesterday superintending the tests to a battery of three steel boilers just built by the Albion Iron Works for the mills. There are to be twelve boilers constructed, all on the same plan, designed by Mr. Randall. They are made of two large sheets, thus doing away with circular seams and joints over the fires, a style which is meeting with great favor among experts. Other excellent features are also introduced. The test was very satisfactory, 150 pounds hydrostatic pressure being applied without a weep appearing at the seams. The remainder of the boilers will soon be finished, when they will be tested and sent up to the mills.

The Edison Phonograph.

Conspicuous among the attractions at the exhibition yesterday was one of Edison's improved phonographs from the agency of Holland Bros., Ottawa, general agents for the North American Phonograph Company in Canada. The vibration caused by the electric light plant, the crush of visitors around the instrument and the sound of the band below, interfered somewhat with the working of the phonograph, but a large number of beautiful records were reproduced to the delighted listeners. Mr. Fraser who represents Messrs. Holland in the Pacific Northwest district had intended to have two of the wonderful instruments on exhibition to-day with a superior collection of records, but owing to the delay in transferring express matter from Vancouver, the machines will not arrive until this evening. On Saturday evening Mr. Fraser will entertain the members of the Victoria press at the Oriental parlors.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

THE FORESTERS' MEET.

The Foresters of Washington were over here in force yesterday, but the Vancouverites did not turn out with the exception of a very few. The excursion on the Islander was therefore not a success, as the one from the Sound was. Those who got up the excursion were therefore "out" financially. Captain Irving came to the rescue by donating $50 on behalf of the C.P.N. Company to help them. When the committee went to thank the captain for his kindness, they were met with another $50 from Captain Irving himself.

In the evening the I.O.F., headed by the Seattle and Vancouver bands, serenaded Mayor Grant and the aldermen at the City Hall, the council adjourning to give the Foresters the use of the council chambers.

The object of the meeting, the establishment of a high court for British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, was announced by District Deputy Chief Ranger Grant. After a long discussion the matter was deferred. A discussion ensued regarding other matters. A motion to raise the sick relief from $3 to $5 was lost. Chief Commissioner Bredemeyer addressed the meeting, after which they adjourned.

A PLEASING SERVICE.

St. John's Church Harvest Festival Service Last Evening Largely Attended.

St. John's Church, prettier and cosier than ever, was crowded last evening on the occasion of the harvest festival service. The service was bright and cheerful, the choir showing signs of careful practice. The musical portion was admirably sustained by Mr. Rowlands, whose solo "Nazareth" was very artistically rendered. Mr. Woolaston's solo "Jerusalem" was also most acceptably given, but the gem of the evening was Mrs. Rowland's solo "The World of Song," a sweetly pretty ballad, and so sympathetically and beautifully rendered that it was only the sacredness of the place and occasion that prevented the congregation from manifesting openly and audibly there sincere appreciation. Mr. Nickells presided at the organ with efficiency and taste. Mrs. Rowlands will sing again on Sunday, when the service will be repeated with the addition of the surpliced choir. The church decorations were exceedingly tasteful, and beautifully chaste in design.

His lordship the Bishop occupied the pulpit, and preached in sympathy with the occasion. He said there were three things whose influence affects mankind at this time. Fate, sadness, gladness. The first is of Mohammedan origin, which teaches that man is fated to a certain state of life and death; the second is Buddhism, and the third can be traced clearly to Christianity, whose doctrine is wholly gladness. The preacher illustrated this very nicely, showing God's goodness to men in all states, and closed with an appeal to the congregation for assistance in paying off the debt on the organ. The collection was devoted to this object.

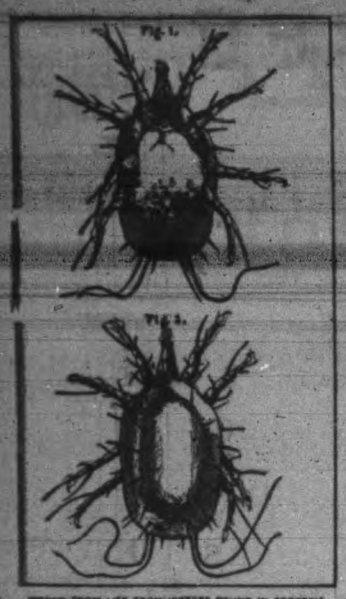
CHINESE - SUGARS; - WHAT - IT - IS - WE - MAY - BE - EATING!



DRAWN FROM LIFE FROM INSECTS FOUND IN GROCERY

In view of the introduction to the Province recently of considerable quantities of Chinese Sugars, it may be as well that the Public should be informed, on the very highest possible authority, of the danger that may be attendant upon their use.

Professor Cameron, Public Analyst, Dublin, a gentleman who has made it his special business to examine all kinds of Foreign Sugars, Refined and other, says that certain kinds of them should never be used. He states that they contain great numbers of DISGUSTING INSECTS, which produce a DISGUSTING DISEASE. Their shape is very accurately shown in the accompanying cut, which is magnified two hundred diameters. Figure 1 is the under side, and Figure 2 the upper. The Professor's description is as follows:—

"This insect ('the Acarus Sacchari') is a formidably organized, exceedingly lively, and decidedly ugly little animal. From its oval-shaped body stretches forth a proboscis terminating in a kind of scissors, with which it seizes its food. Its organs of locomotion consist of eight legs, each jointed and furnished at its extremity with a hook. In the Sugar its movements from one place to another are necessarily very slow, but when placed on a perfectly clean and dry surface, it moves along with great rapidity." He adds that the number of "Acari" found in Unrefined Sugar is "sometimes exceedingly great, and in no instance is the article quite free from either the insects or their eggs." He further says:—"The Acari Sacchari" do not occur in Refined Sugar of any quality, because they cannot pass through the charcoal filters of the Refinery, and because Refined Sugar does not contain any nitrogenous substance upon which they can feed."

COOLIE - MADE - AND - ALL - UNREFINED - SUGARS - SHOULD - NEVER - BE - USED!

Besides its being impossible for Canadian Labor to compete with Coolie Labor, rice fed and under paid, it is well known that Eastern Countries have always been the breeding ground for leprosy and all other loathsome and horrible human diseases, and hand labor there is so cheap that there is no inducement to employ machinery. Home Refined Sugar, on the contrary, is never touched by the human hand from the moment it reaches the refiner until it leaves him a perfectly safe and purified article.

Use, therefore, Only Home Refined Sugars; They Are Absolutely Unadulterated, Pure and Cheap.

At the Methodist General Mission Board, of St. John, N. B., the estimates were laid on the table. The grants include $380 to Manitoba and $80 to British Columbia. Another item was $2000 for a Superintendent of Missions for the Northwest and travelling expenses. The estimates were all passed.

Capt. Gerald Bate, of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, was married at Ottawa yesterday to Miss Kate Cameron, daughter of John A. Cameron, lumber merchant. The bride is a leading society favorite. Mr. and Mrs. Bate left in the afternoon on a trip around the world via the Canadian Pacific.

Being asked if he were not afraid of arrest, Pacaud said: "No, sir; I feel that I have done nothing to warrant such proceedings. Any other man in my place would have acted in a similar manner. One thing you may say is that I am obliged to those papers that have refrained from attacking me in my absence." The many Canadian friends of Mr. Henry Norman, who not long ago went the round of the world in the capacity of special commissioner for the Pall Mall Gazette, will be interested to hear of his marriage. The picturesque and popular journalist has found a congenial partner in Miss Mene Muriel Dowie, the heroine of her recent book —"A Girl in the Karpathians." He loved her for the dangers she had passed, according to the account of them from her own facile and graceful pen, and she loved him that he did, in the course of his circumambulation of the earth, hit upon a first-class gold mine out Singapore way.—Winnipeg Free Press.

NANAIMO NEWS.

NANAIMO, Oct. 1.—If the citizens were jubilant over the result of the first day's race in the firemen's tournament, they were still more so yesterday when it became known that the Nanaimo team had won the championship race and the gold medal. The boys have done far better than was ever expected of them, although it was known to be the best team that has ever represented the city. There is considerable talk about getting the brass band out to meet them at the depot and escort the conquerors through the city. They will certainly receive an ovation on their return home.

THE ELECTRIC TRAMWAY.

According to the charter granted to the proposed electric tramway company, yesterday was the last day of grace, and accordingly it was necessary that operations should be commenced. A couple of men were therefore employed to bury a few sleepers at the extreme limit of the city, on Newcastle townsite. It is promised that active operations will be commenced in the spring, and nearly all the capital for the project has been already subscribed. It is generally believed here that the tramway will pay immediately, but the directors think it will take a few months before it commences to pay.

A BOY DROWNED.

A boy named Charles Scott, aged 10 years, was drowned in a well on Tuesday evening at East Wellington. The well is shallow, and the most singular thing is that the boy was not heard to call for help. It is thought he must have fallen in head first and been stunned. He was not missed by his parents for several hours, and on searching for him they discovered him in the well, the last spark of life having left his body. This is another result of leaving a well uncovered.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

A grand concert will be given in the Baptist Church on October 24th in aid of the organ fund.

The bark Valley Forge arrived here last evening and will be beached before taking a cargo of coal.

The U. S. coast survey boat Patterson called at Departure Bay yesterday from Alaska, where she has been since April. She left for San Francisco today.

Mr. A. Haslam is having a large scow built for his own use, and when completed in all probability he will build another steamer.

"Land Bill Allan."

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—A man 86 years of age was sent to the county infirmary on Wednesday. He has spent the best part of his life in aiding the workmen of the country. His name is Wm. Allan, but he is better known as "Land Bill Allan." Over 50 years ago Mr. Allan commenced the work of his life for his fellow men. At that time he lived in Perry County. He was the owner of a valuable farm, and was surrounded by a happy family. He commenced the agitation for the homestead law, and travelled the country over at his own expense, delivering speeches and lectures in futherance of his work. He addressed legislators and helped to mould public sentiment until at last Congress passed the national homestead law, giving every actual settler 160 acres of land. For the work Mr. Allan was highly praised, but he received no pay. He spent his fortune in the cause. Members of his family one after another died, and now he is in the poor-house. His work in Ohio led to the adoption in this state of the exemption laws, by which the poor man has so much property set aside exempt from sheriff's and constable's sales. His farm in Perry county was sold by the sheriff some years ago, since which time he has lived by begging. When sent to the infirmary Mr. Allan presented a most miserable appearance, his clothing being little better than tatters and rags.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Matters of Interest Going Forward in the Sporting World, Here and Elsewhere.

THE TURF.

There was a link missing somewhere in the arrangements of the meeting of the V. J. C. yesterday, and for a short time it looked as though there was to be a return to what may be termed the bad old days when everyone in the field was judge, starter, timekeeper, referee and general Jack. Luckily the officials pulled themselves together after a time, and the horses were made to dance out, but not till considerable valuable time had been wasted.

In the quarter-mile and repeat Joe Wynne won the first and Grey Eagle won the second heat. Here a muddle occurred somehow, and even now no one can understand how the thing was done. Grey Eagle won the second by about two lengths, but McGuire, his jockey, was crowded to the fence and got hurt. There was a rumor of jockeying, and the heat was declared off by the judges. Another heat was run, Grey Eagle scoring in 25½, when the announcement appeared on the board, "Grey Eagle 25½ and race." This was a puzzler, and a lot of money changed hands under wondering eyes, whose owners with true faith understood not but believed.

FREE FOR ALL TROTTING.

The starters in this event were Belle Watts, Bishop Hero, Lady Mac, and Silver Tail. The little black mare was the favorite in this, but she had behind her a young and nervous driver, who lifted the reins a little too frequently and made the mare as nervous as himself. She won the first heat, though, and lost the second to Hero. Harry Stone came to the rescue, and took the lines in hand. Then the little mare settled down to work, and without a cross word being spoken to her drew out from the rear at the start before the first quarter round was reached and kept at the lead to the finish, in a lovely exhibition of honest, square trotting, and level head coolness with all the tumult that was going on. Belle Watts won the last heat this afternoon in 2.39½.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

The races opened to-day with the following programme:

Running, ½ mile and repeat; purse, $30—Caven & Co.'s Grey Eagle, W. J. Garrison's Lancer, J. Irvine's Joe Wim, Linton Bros.' Limey Long. Lancer won the first heat in 50½.

Trotting, 2.50 class; purse $150—J. W. Anderson's Lady Mac, W. Brown's Foundry Boy, Ed. Adamson's Joe W., Captain Terhune's Johnny, Dr. Hall's Canadian Boy. Johnny won the first heat in 2.42.

There was quite a number of entries for the ¼ mile polo pony dash.

TRACK NOTES.

J. G. Sturgeon, representing "The Horseman," Chicago, is in Victoria in the interests of his paper, and is taking in the show. Mr. Sturgeon was agreeably surprised at the bustling appearance of Victoria, and likes the city very much.

A match race has been arranged between Ito and Joe Wynne to-morrow afternoon for half mile dash. Stakes $100 a side. There is money up on both sides, with Joe Wynne a strong favorite already.

The race between man and beast, Gibson the foot racer, and Joe Wynne the horse, the arrangements for which were made and announced last week, will come off to-morrow. The horse is to cover a quarter of a mile and the man one-eighth to win.

McGuire, Joe Wynne's jockey, was pretty badly hurt yesterday and to-day his leg is not at all in good shape. The knee cap has been displaced, and the leg below that very much bruised. When he couldn't ride in the second heat yesterday a new jockey was got, but the horse was handicaped thereby to the extent of fifteen pounds.

PEDESTRIANISM.

Two well known sports, one a Victorian and the other a Vancouverite who attended the races yesterday and who spent last night in rejoicing over their winnings, afforded a small crowd quite a little amusement in Oriental alley. They had been discussing the speed of horses and finally came down to their own running capabilities. A match made between the two. Heavy bets were finally offered by the Vancouver man's friends and eagerly taken by Victorians. Both got off well together but the Vancouverite's feet went from under him and the Victorian's took the money.

FROM BEHRING'S STORMY SEA.

Eight days ago, on the 27th of September, H. M. good ship Nymphe, Commander Turner, sailed from Sitka bound for Esquimalt harbor, and at 8:30 o'clock this morning she cast anchor there.

She was visited soon after by a TIMES reporter, who was very cordially met by Capt. Turner and the first lieutenant Mr. R. P. Adams. From the latter many interesting notes of the trip were obtained. The Nymphe has been actively employed while in Behring Sea, in enforcing the modus vivendi. Several schooners were warned by her officers, among them the Annie C. Moore and Carmolite.

The Nymphe was at Iliuliuk for quite a time, making that the headquarters. While there dramatic performances and dances broke the almost unbearable monotony of the trip. The officers and crew of the Nymphe gave several performances, including "Box & Cox" and variety entertainments. The latter included "Brannigan's Band." A hobby horse was one of the features of the latter piece, and the natives of Iliuliuk were astonished at the appearance of the horse, an animal, by the way, they had never seen in reality. They were rather timorous at first, but gradually got accustomed to the unknown animal.

Mr. Rudolph Neumann, the manager for the fur company, gave three dances to the officers of the men-of-war, and a very enjoyable time was spent. There are a few ladies there, and pleasant parties were enjoyed, a really good floor for dancing being a feature.

A fine dog was found by the Nymphe's men on one of the Aleutian islands, and appropriated by them. He is now domiciled aboard the vessel, and rejoices in the possession of the civilized name of "Dan." His former cognomen was a Russian-Aleut one, something like "Ijavanchowvitch."

Concerning the accusation of Captain McDougall, of the schooner E. B. Marvin, that one of the Nymphe's lieutenants had used language of a very ungentlemanly character in connection with the sealing question, both navigating Lieutenant Vernon Webb and First Lieutenant R. P. Adams deny point blank that anything of the kind was ever uttered. Lieut. Adams states that he never had any conversation on the subject with Capt. McDougall, and Lieut. Webb says that he never exchanged a half dozen words with the master of the E. B. Marvin. Both of the officers feel very much hurt at the accusation. Both gentlemen think Capt McDougall made a mistake, and trust that a full explanation will be given.

Some hunting was indulged in by the Nymphe's officers, and several ptarmigan were shot, but very little game outside of this was obtained. Plenty of fishing was done, and good catches made.

Latterly the ward room was reduced to short commons in the liquid department, and the festive cocktail and the cheering b. and s. were unknown quantities, and the taste of a punch conspicuous by its absence. However the sight of Victoria's storehouses has set that all right.

On the trip down very rough weather was experienced. On Tuesday last a very heavy gale was encountered, and the Nymphe had to lay-to for 10 hours. Several heavy seas were shipped, and the whaler was smashed. No other damage was sustained. All hands have enjoyed good health, and the voyage has been one, which although not exciting, has had many novel features introduced into it.

After diphtheria, scarlet fever, pneumonia, or any other severe illness, there is no better tonic than Hood's Sarsaparilla.
